ILLINOIS SLUSH FUND PROBERS MEET BLOCKADE

Lack of State Law Compelling Candidates To File Expnses Presents Problem

FREE TO EMPTY PURSES

Committee Investigates Charges That McKinley Sought Prestige by Gifts

Chicago, July 27—The Senate Slush Fund Committee today delved into charges that Senator William B. McKinley, beaten in the recent Illinois senatorial primaries, had donated a fortune in the last few years to colleges, schools and churches in a futile effort to build up an immense political machine.

With Chester A. Willoughby, McKinley's private secretary, on the stand, Senator James A. Reed, democrat of Missouri, sought for an hour to uncover the senator's contributions to public institutions. He was unsuccessful as Willoughby maintained he knew nothing about the senator's philanthropies.

Reed did mention two donations, one of $60,000 to Lincoln University in Kentucky and another unnamed sum to a negro college in Chicago. Read in his question said both contributions were made during the recent senatorial campaign and that the first resulted in the chancellor of the Kentucky University coming to Illinois to speak for McKinley.

Free to Give

With candidates and parties free to empty their purses in the race for public office the trail of slush proved an uphill road to the senate investigators. They were blocked by the lack of state law such as existed in Pennsylvania compelling all candidates and campaign committees to file expense accounts with the state. With such a law miss[illegible]

Local newsdealers and magazine agents declare to the affirmative—at least in Marion.

It is said that the American people, of which the Marion inhabitants are good examples, are always in a hurry.

Tropical Hurricane Sweeps Across Lower Florida and Continues Toward North

Bahama Islands in Grip of Storm; Lower Coast Cities from Miami to Fort Pierce Suffer from Gale; Palm Beach Communications Are Severed

Jacksonville, Fla., July 27—Nine vessels are reported in distress as a result of the tropical hurricane which swept up the lower Florida coast last night and early today, according to a storm warning issued from the local Weather Bureau at 10 o'clock this morning.

The storm is moving north. Northeast storm warnings from north of Titusville, Fla., to Charleston, S. C. were issued by the bureau. The gale may strike at various points between here and New York before blowing itself out according to the Weather Bureau's report.

Several unverified reports of small craft endangered by the blow have been received here. The Clyde Line steamer Seminole bound from New York will probably arrive at Miami before noon today, it was stated at the steamship company offices here.

Broadcast Warnings

Storm warnings were broadcast by the Weather Bureau yesterday and it is believed that practically all coastwise boat traffic took precautions for safety.

Warning was issued of a northeast storm from Miami to Key West. The center of the tropical storm was reported a short distance east of the Florida coast between Miami and Jupiter Inlet this morning. It was moving very slowly northwest with a slight shift directly north.

Islands in Storm Grip

The storm, blowing in from the Bahama Islands late yesterday, fell with terrific force on the lower coast cities from Fort Pierce to just below Miami, a 120-mile strip of seaboard. Palm Beach, Lake Worth, Delray, Boca Raton, Fort Lauderdale, Miami Beach, Coral Gables and Florida City on the extreme eastern tip of the Florida peninsula all felt the tropical gales.

Palm Beach is entirely cut off from outside communication. Commercial telephone and telegraph companies' wires have been blown down and work of restoring them is hampered by piled up debris, according to their reports today.

Windows in telephone exchange buildings near Palm Beach were broken by the wind, a report stated just before wires into that city were severed.

CITY'S BUDGET IGNORED WHEN COUNCIL MEETS

Councilmen Make No Reference to Protested Measure Returned for Revision

City Council has assumed a passive attitude toward written and verbal protests against the 1927 budget of operating expenses.

This was displayed last night when Council in regular session made no reference to the measure under protest despite the fact that it has been rejected and returned for revision by the Marion County Budget Commission with the notation "incomplete and confusing."

In one of the briefest sessions in years councilmen rushed feverishly through a number of sewer condition reports and adjourned.

Two Protests Filed

Two protests have been filed against the proposed estimate of expenses of city departments for 1927. The first came from the Chamber of Commerce before council had acted on the budget. This protest was ignored and the budget passed by council with the defense that the public doesn't understand budget procedure.

Shortly after the budget was returned by the County Budget Commission for revision C. A. Owens sent a letter of protest to Finance Chairman R. L. Prettyman. In this he deplored the lack of interest and commercial judgment on the part of council in drafting

PLANS TO KEEP ELECTION BET TO RESIGN POST

Will Call Extraordinary Session of Legislature and Tender Resignation

MOODY WINS BY 113,000

Is Anxious That Present Government Fulfill Challenge at Once

Austin, Texas, July 27—For the first time in the political history of the United States the office of governor has been lost through an election bet.

Governor "Ma" Ferguson, acting upon the advice of her husband's political adviser, former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey, has announced she would tender her resignation as governor at a special session of the legislature which she will call for Sept. 13, paying in full her election wager with Dan Moody, youthful attorney general, that she would resign if he led her by one vote in the primary which took place Saturday. Moody agreed to resign as attorney general if Mrs. Ferguson led him by 25,000 votes in the gubernatorial contest.

Moody Leads with 113,000

Latest vote tabulations gave Moody 351,074, Ma Ferguson 239,100, and Lynch Davidson 101,947, with a few counties yet to be heard from.

The announcement of Governor Ferguson that she would resign but not until Nov. 1 aroused the ire of Attorney General Moody. He believes that his election bet should be paid forthwith. Moody today made public the following statement:

POISON LIQUOR DEATH TOLL ADVANCED TO 37

Added Fatalities Follow Surrender of Alleged Bootleg Ring Leader

Buffalo, N. Y., July 27—The death toll from poison liquor in Buffalo, Toronto and other border cities rose to 37 today when two young women of Fort Erie and a man in Hamilton [illegible] of the three have been identified.

Four deaths occurred last night.

News of the additional deaths closely followed the surrender of James C. Voelker, alleged king of the alcohol traffickers, believed by authorities to have distributed the wood alcohol which has caused deaths along the border and to be responsible for the many deaths in the past few days.

Voelker was said to have been in New York on business and had returned when he learned that police wanted to question him. He is being held on an open charge.

Frank J. Hale, national supervisor of alcohol control, and Judge Ross C. Harper, legal adviser to the [illegible] district, arrived from Washington today to take charge of the investigation into the source of supply.

James C. Voelker, alleged manufacturer of the alcohol said to have caused 21 deaths from poisoned liquor in Buffalo, Toronto and other border cities, surrendered to police here today.

Voelker walked into police headquarters and announced his identity. Officials immediately began questioning him.

Voelker disappeared from Buffalo following the raiding of his home in which police charged they discovered a redistilling plant.

CLARK C. BAKER IS LOCATED IN FLORIDA TOWN

Prominent Richland County Dancehall Proprietor Leaves Home March 11

MYSTERY SHROUDS CASE

Detective Asserts Whereabouts of Baker Have Been Known for Months

Canton, July 27—Clark C. Baker, Mansfield dance hall proprietor, missing since March 11, has been located in Florida.

Pat Hutchinson, former sheriff of Summit County and private detective who worked on the Baker case, made public this statement today.

Hutchinson also declared that it was known exactly where Baker was within a week after his disappearance.

He also asserted that a doctor, who had been treating Baker for a certain disease knew where the man could be found from the first day of his disappearance. Hutchinson would not name the doctor.

The Baker mystery aroused statewide interest. Upon the receipt of petitions Governor Vic Donahey sent C. H. Stevens, his special investigator, to Mansfield to probe the case. Many theories were advanced for Baker's disappearance.

According to Hutchinson, Baker was advised to go to Florida for his health. He left his home on the night of March 11 and after hiding for several days around Mansfield, Hutchinson asserted, departed for Florida.

No verification of Hutchinson's story had been obtained up to a late hour this afternoon.

STATE LABOR BODY MAY INDORSE DONAHEY-BROWN

Federation's Attitude Indicated at State Convention Being Held in Akron

Akron, July 27—It was indicated as the second day of convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor opened here today that Governor A. V. Donahey and Thad Brown would be endorsed as candidates for governor.

Donahey, the democratic, and Brown, the republican candidates, as the only aspirants for this office who have satisfactorily answered the questionnaire sent out by leaders of the union.

Myers Y. Cooper is almost satisfactory and may receive a left handed endorsement. Neither Joseph B. Bieber of Akron nor A. P. "Pat" Sandles replied in a manner to satisfy the authors of the questions. Bieber ignored some queries.

The endorsements will be non-partisan, merely expressing approval of candidates who are avowed friends of labor.

Max Hayes, editor of the Cleveland Citizen, and Joseph Smith, representative of the bakers' organization, were Monday's chief speakers. Charles Stauff, head of the committee on rules, was to make his report this afternoon.

"Horses, Horses," Sings Youth as Autos Continue to Shove Dobbin into Oblivion

BY EDWIN SCHOENLEB

Horses, horses, horses, just a lot of horses.

So runs a line of the popular song.

But where are the horses?

A survey of Marion and a glance at the tax returns tells us that there are 93 horses remaining in the city.

Only 93! And a few years ago horses, wagons, carriages and buggies lined the streets of Marion.

Another survey discloses four blacksmith shops still in existence within the city limits. A few years ago, blacksmith shops were as prominent as garages are now.

"Gas buggies," gas stations, gas engines, almost everything connected with the term gasoline has spelled the doom of "Old Dobbin."

True there are still a few in existence in the city. Most of them may be seen at the ice plants and dairies. But even in these occupations the horse is being rapidly displaced by the motor truck.

If the four blacksmiths of Marion were forced to depend upon the shoeing of horses and the repair of carriages for their income the shops would have disappeared long ago.

A few days ago, and aged farmer seated in an old-fashioned buggy drawn by a typical "Dobbin" rode through the center of Marion. Automobiles honked and tooted when the slow moving buggy threatened to hold up traffic. A few pedestrians stopped and stared.

The mere presence of the animal so well known a few years ago caused as much excitement as the first appearance of the automobile on the streets.

The horse is no longer considered essential in this age of filling stations and garages. It is considered a freak and novelty.

Bulgaria is the only country in South Eastern Europe which boasts a flourishing English speaking League, while another of the Anglo-Saxon leanings of the Bulgarian Premier M. One is the irrigation project for the desolation of the Maritza Valley, which will cost some ten million dollars, and the other is the construction of the Sofia Rila water supply canal.

Murderer, Sentenced To Hang, Will Be Given Freedom in 1930

Springfield Ill July 27—The thud of hammers in the hands of work men erecting a gallows not only saved [illegible] Potz from the gallows but will make him a free man October 11 1930

And it was all due to the fact [illegible] the noise reached the ears of late Mrs [illegible] of Gov Len Small who was [illegible] when the governor at that time was [illegible] trial on charges of misusing [illegible] failed to turn over to the state [illegible] interest on funds collected during his term as state treasurer

Saved From Gallows

When Mrs Small heard the [illegible] the inquired as to their source and was told that they came from the jail yard in which Potz was to be executed for the murder of William Peterson [illegible] cycle policeman So he asked the governor to commute Potz's sentence

Before the execution however Mrs Small died and the Governor remembered her plea and commuted Potz's sentence to life imprisonment

Then on the fourth anniversary of her death recently the governor [illegible] commuted the man's sentence [illegible] to freedom on the [illegible]

Now residents of Lake county [illegible] recalling the sensational trial of Potz and his four companions

Case Is Recalled

Potz and his mates had borrowed an automobile for a hunting trip [illegible] is alleged drank freely While [illegible] ing through Winthrop Harbor at a rapid rate they were chased by Peterson on a motorcycle Suddenly the [illegible] gun was poked through the rear window of the machine a shot sounded and Peterson hurtled from his cycle dead The man occupied at that time had been severely tried Potz companions shifted the blame to him and there seemed to be some doubt as to the correct reading of the proceedings

Announces Resignation

Mrs Ferguson withheld comment on election results until returns indicated that Moody had won by more than 100,000 votes—a margin great enough to give him a majority and make unnecessary a run off primary—and then announced she would resign

Further she said she would withdraw from the race and not be a candidate in the run off election Her statement in part said

The governor then announced she would convene an extraordinary session of the legislature Sept 13

The old magazine on the current topic of the day haven't the stuff for the average American anymore and are being replaced more and more every day by the entertainment variety

Love Stories Popular

One of the most popular magazines on the stand today is the love story and the rest of the publications which follow in the same channel More copies of this magazine are sold than other on the market today it is said

Persons are also outgrowing the taste of a continued story from one month or week to the next They want the whole story right before them—and they want it short and concise

The scientific and mechanical varieties are mostly seasonable magazines The auto the bicycle and motorcycle or the motor boat sell best in the summer months During the winter months, the radio and other scientific magazines are in vogue. It is declared that about three times as many radio periodicals are called for at the newsstands in the winter as in the summer months.

About the only educational magazine that is in demand in the local stands is the travel magazines owing also to the season These also will fall into temporary oblivion when the vacation days are ended

Noticeable is the fact that the American people are getting more rapid in thought action and speech almost each decade and it is wondered if they will have time to even read a magazine in a few years to come

The Canton News is wondering "how large our cemeteries would be if people had to wait as long for the doctors to come as the doctors have to wait for their payment." Answering that is going to take some thought. While the chances are that it would increase the acreage, there's always the chance, of course, that cemeteries would soon disappear.

Mrs. Dillman Appeals.

Announcement comes from Washington that Mrs. Hugh Dillman, who at the time of her marriage a few months ago was the widow of Horace E. Dodge, the Detroit automobile manufacturer, will contest the constitutionality of the gift tax, appealing from a tax amounting to $25,818 assessed against her in connection with gifts amounting to $587,182 made by her in 1924 to members of her husband's family.

Mrs. Dillman's attorneys cite the case of McNeir against Anderson in the United States district court for the Southern district of New York in which the court rendered a decision which they allege upholds their contention regarding the unconstitutionality of the law. The papers in the case indicate that Mrs. Dillman has been notified by the bureau of internal revenue that it would refuse to follow the decision of the federal district court cited by her attorneys unless it is affirmed by the United States supreme court.

The gift tax, it may be explained, was imposed for the first time under the revenue act of 1924. It is our understanding that the alleged purpose in enacting it was to prevent people of means from escaping the higher rates of the income tax by giving a portion of their property away. Be that as it may, it was repealed in the revenue act of 1926 and at the same time retroactive reductions were made in the rates for the period from 1924 to 1926. The tax from which Mrs. Dillman appeals represents the tax under the reduced rates of the act of the present year.

Let us consider the gift tax, which, to our way of thinking, wasn't repealed any too soon. As we understand it, the government has been imposing taxes for two purposes, one of which it necessarily is compelled to admit—that of raising revenue. The other purpose we get from discussions in congress. It is to break up large estates, to divide wealth. As we see it, is is a cheap play to the gallery in response to the alarmists who are fearful for the future of the country if the fortunes of the plutocrats, as they were called in the old muckraking days, are permitted to accumulate and multiply. With rare exceptions, the history of the country goes to show, these large fortunes do not prove menaces beyond the second generation. The heirs and their attorneys look after that. The fact is that the agitation against the great fortunes of the land has just about as much foundation in merit as a thousand and one other things against which the alarmists, the self-constituted reformers for profit and the cheap politicians inveigh.

What was the real purpose, then, behind the gift tax. It can hardly be held that it was to raise needed revenue for during the years mentioned there have been repeated reductions in income tax rates. Not only that, but government receipts have been so large that the reduction of our national debt has been much faster and greater than was deemed possible till its accomplishment under the masterly financial genius of Secretary Mellon was brought about. Now let us take up the other ground for taxation—that of breaking up vast estates. Can any one imagine a quicker way of breaking up estates than by giving them away in pieces. Can any one imagine a better way of dividing the estate of this particular woman, then Mrs. Dodge, than that which she took of making gifts to seven relatives of an aggregate of almost two-thirds of a million dollars? It was a perfectly fair, legitimate and sensible transaction. She was about to marry, and that there might not be any legal complications in connection with gifts she desired to make, she made them before the marriage was solemnized, the recipients being relatives of her deceased husband—Mr. and Mrs. Horace E. Dodge, Jr., and their two children, Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell, daughter of Mrs. Dodge, and her husband, James H. R. Cromwell, and a child of the Cromwells.

What then was the real purpose of the gift tax law? Our guess would be that its purpose was largely that of so great a proportion of such laws as our legislative bodies pass, that there might be more money for the insatiable tax-eaters to spend; that there might be more money at hand to meet the wails and demands of the spenders who live off the tax-payers and who will be found in the country as a whole and in each of its political divisions—state, county and municipal—everlastingly asking for more and more.

Fortunately, Mrs. Dillman has the means to prosecute her appeal, of which we are glad, and may, and we hope will, be the means of protecting others who might not have means so ample. We wish her success in her effort, hoping that she will secure a ruling that will have a tendency to lessen to a degree at least the wallowing in the public financial troughs.

We see that Senator Johnson is talking about the discourteous treatment of American tourists by the French, which has a tendency to make us suspect that maybe "Uncle Hiram" has gone over there again, without letting us know anything about it, "to study conditions at first hand."

"Another thing this country needs," says the Youngstown Vindicator, "is a good five-cent shine." If we can't afford to pay a dime, let's shine our own. Anyway, let us stave off the nickel shine as long as we can, for we are not likely to get it till we have again the dollar-a-day wage for common labor.

We may imagine that the French are wildly excited over our refusal to throw off the other half of the debt they owe us, but wait till some of their debtors ask them to throw off half their bills. Then the real eruption will come.

"What does the architect do," asks the News men of Jackson, Mississippi, "when the space left is too big for a breakfast-room and not big enough for a closet?" That's an easy one. He utilizes it for a bath-room, of course.

Thomas Dixon, the writer, predicts that government censorship of the press will come within ten years. Maybe so. For the last seven or eight years the government has been getting its nose into just about every old thing. But if the federal censoring of the press does come, the newspapers will largely have themselves to blame, and the surest way to prevent it is to start right in doing a little more censoring themselves. The most of them need it.

Vagrant Verse.

THE ENDLESS SONG.

Let him be born on a lampless night,
Let him have eyes for the inner sight—
Let not a single star be white

But give him a bitter, desperate bread

Let him become the songs he would sing:
Hunger and thirst and dark [illegible] —
Each seeking, grieving, desolate thing

Let him go clothed in a beggar's garb,
Let him feel the full sting of the traitor's barb

Let him drink up the tears of the seven seas —
Fashion from grief bright melodies—
Let the soul go parched and the body freeze

Let him know the paths of the forces that ride
On the backs of the wind, in the teeth of the tide,

Let towers fall shuddering about his head;
Let him walk on the ruins of cities that bled
On the plains of his soul, uncomforted

Aye let him be waif of the universe
And have for his knocking the dark one's curse.

But give him the wine of an ecstasy
Undreamed as the bird of the soul flies free.

If still he shall seek it the endless song Shall ride out on his wings. To him will belong
Heart music of an "invisible [illegible]"

Fears to him the lords of life will give
To journey on paths where the soul may live;

To him each sensitive stone, each tree
That lifts itself from creation's sea
Shall be as the face of eternity

For him all life shall be as one
His brothers—fire, a bird, the sun

NO WONDER IT'S HARD TO GET GOOD MEN TO RUN FOR PUBLIC OFFICE!

No Need To Dread Teething.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Not so long ago I drove into Virginia to call on some friends. It so happened there was a seven-weeks old baby in the house. Naturally and properly it was the center of an admiring group.

I was much impressed by the many evidences of good sense in the care of the infant. To begin with, the child was not wrapped and swathed in a multitude of garments. A clean sheet was stretched over a wide couch and upon it the baby wiggled and twisted to its heart's content.

It is a shame to make a prisoner of a tiny baby. To shackle and bind and bundle such a morsel of flesh is a crime against its freedom and health-giving exercise.

But these are not the things I had in mind to tell you. I want you to hear what the sensible grandmother of this baby said. It was this:

"I don't believe a word about the evils of teething and the dangers of the second summer!"

Good for you, grandmother! A false popular conclusion has been reached in this matter. Just because the upset stomach and bowels, the fever and discomfort, have coincided with the period when the teeth are cut, is not proof conclusive that they have resulted from the teething.

Of course the teething period is a time when the nervous system is developing. This fact, together with the mouth tenderness of the time, must not be disregarded as having some effect upon the vitality and resistance of the child. But I am sure the significance of teeth has been overdrawn.

Nature never intended that the "natural" processes, the many circumstances of growth and development, should be accompanied by peculiar dangers and possibilities of disaster. I have more faith in Nature than to believe this.

The trouble with us human-beings is that we abuse the body. We insult nature by neglecting her simple rules. We add injury to insult by deliberately violating her laws.

In a baby's life the center of gravity is the mouth. To it gravitates everything the child can get its hands on and failing anything else to put there, its own little fist is thrust into its mouth. Even its toes find their way there.

It wouldn't matter much about what gets to baby's mouth, if the things were clean. But they aren't. Dirty toys and dirtier fingers are pressed and rubbed into the gums. Is it any wonder the mouth gets sore and inflamed?

Dirty rubber nipples and teething rings, contaminated objects of every sort—all these are a menace to the mouth health and general welfare of the child. If such things are kept from the lips and gums and tongue, it will mean much for the baby's good.

The mouth should be washed out carefully, soft cloths or cotton being used for the purpose. The feeding bottle, the spoons, the toys—reaching this magnetic cavity should be thoroughly clean, surgically clean.

When the mother follows these suggestions I am sure she will have no occasion to dread the second summer, or the teething period whenever it comes.

Some of those who most loudly hailed the primary system as a political cure-all are not so sure about it now. They have had experience, and, as Putnam once remarked, "Experience is the blind man's dog."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Russia's Change of Front.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

With a mixture of apology for its failure and adulation for its success, the finance commissar of soviet Russia has issued the first quinquennial report of the so-called new economic policy, whereby communism to an extent was forced to compromise with private enterprise. Russia under "pure" communism did not succeed, argues the report, because it was handicapped by the continued bourgeoise methods in other countries. On the other hand, it declares, the state has maintained a close supervision and has allowed private business to be conducted only for the object of increasing production.

There is a change of front, but no change of heart among Russia's rulers. These present attitude is the same as that of Lenine in 1921, when in announcing his new economic policy he termed it "a strategic retreat." The followers of Lenine would return to their ruinous experiment if they could change the rest of the world, if they could bring to pass the universal chaos of a world revolution. But without such an eventuality it would be suicidal to the communists themselves as well as to communism to bar private enterprise, to stifle individual initiative, to threaten universal starvation in the vast country.

The important thing about the present report is not that considerable gains have been made in business, in commerce, in general well-being by the extension of private business. That has been well known for some time. The important thing in the eyes of the outside world is the restraint the soviets continue to place upon private enterprise, the constant supervision and deadening regulation that are enforced. Private capital from the outside would not risk the dangers from such conditions. Then there is the competition from nationalized industries and over and above is the soviet foreign trade monopoly.

The admission that communism has failed is not new. The fact remains that it has not been given up. A complete reversal rather than a "strategic retreat" is the first step toward Russia's rehabilitation. But no doubt this is coming about through the slow processes of time.

What do you know about serenity? Have you much of it—any of it in—your life?

Distinguished Chicago doctors who have organized an "hourly nursing service" are real benefactors. They are going to make it possible for the poor to have the services of expert nurses at least a few hours a day at low cost. The expansion of service is the most hopeful sign of today.

Gertrude Emerson, one of the editors of "Asia Magazine," gives in few words about all the advice for would-be writers that is worth anything.

"Know something and then write," says Miss Emerson.

If you are going to write a book or a magazine article or anything else, the most important things are not, as you might think, a subject, a fluent style and a publisher. The main thing is to know enough about something to make people want to listen to you. Even if your desire is to write only fiction, you have to know a lot of truth to make fiction real. There is a glamor that lures people to the writing profession. They have everything—except something to say.

That goes for lecturers and preachers, too.

All the records are not made on the golf links or in flying machines. Down in Tennessee is a young woman who has sneezed 25,000 times in twenty-eight days. In a complex world there are many roads to fame.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE.

New York, July 27 — Jaunty jongleurs of that bango-bango land known as Tin Pan Alley are still trying to figure out the why of the success of that doleful ditty, "The Prisoner's Song." It has passed the million mark and threatens to eclipse the record of the greatest song hit in America—Dardanella.

The song bears authorship of an inmate who died in a Texas prison. This has been disputed by those who say the song was for years an old classic of the Lone Star pampas. At any rate the prisoner's heirs are receiving the [illegible] reward.

The tawdry tune with mawkishly tender verse coming at the peak of the strident [illegible] of jazz tum-tum registers such reversal [illegible] that boy sopranos may again [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] with such banalities as [illegible] That Is Turned Toward the W[illegible]

With sudden realization of the [illegible] caprice in public taste the lads in Tin [illegible] have dropped their tintinnabulation and [illegible] to the melancholy theme of "The Pr[illegible]." A dozen such tunes appeared [illegible] fortnight, but not one registered the [illegible] appeal.

Those who know say the dolorous [illegible] has merely furnished an emotional [illegible] those fed up on the raggy-gay creations [illegible] for several years. It happened once [illegible] when after the reign of the senseless "Ta-ra-ra boom-de-ay," Charles K. Harris came along with a sentimental snivel called "In the Baggage Coach Ahead" and made a small fortune.

These hits that pop up so quietly and explode with such a bang are invariably simple in structure and as likely as not are borrowed from a long forgotten tune. They are either senseless like "Yes, We Have No Bananas" or cheap tearjerkers like "The [illegible] of an Aching Heart."

The depressing side to Tin Pan alley is that the regulars who labor with feverish energy rarely achieve such hits. It is the unknown outsider who comes along to ring the bell.

Apparently ignoring what happened in R[illegible], a shop for men's wear is to open on the fashionable East Side this fall where proper credentials must be shown before a customer makes a purchase. I assume a man must belong to two or three clubs of the better sort, occupy a place in the Social Register like Rip Rhinelander, have normal knee jerks and be free of adenoids. That adenoidal restriction I suspect, is going to black-ball some society boys.

While the season is not over, the road houses about New York have had slim patronage up to date. Perhaps a Broadwayite explains it with, "If one must motor, why not Canada?"

And there are gloomy forebodings about night clubs for this jaded metropolitan capital this winter what with Mayor Walker's 2 o'clock closing order and all. Supper club entrepreneurs say this will drive the class trade to side street speak-easies where closing laws are as neglected as a stage step-child. The heaviest buying in night clubs is after 2 a. m. and as patronage does not reach the clubs from the theater until 12 that gives the proprietors two short hours to reap their harvest. Also waiters are shy about working such short time. It takes some that long to go to the kitchen. But that is doubtless a minor consideration. I have always thought a restaurant without waiters would be ideal.—Copyright, 1926

Who's Who and Why.

L. F. LOREE.

The plan of L. F. Loree for a great southwestern railroad consolidation is nearing fulfillment.

The two-year-old project of aligning the Kansas City Southern, the Missouri-Kansas-Texas and the St. Louis Southwestern has been accepted by the directors of all the roads concerned.

The present plan is the second big consolidation projected by Loree. Quite recently Loree filed an application with the interstate commerce commission for permission for the Delaware and Hudson to lease the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh for 999 years. He did not state how the two roads would be connected but his earlier plan called for taking in the Wabash and either the Lackawanna or the Lehigh Valley, and building a new line across Pennsylvania.

This project would result in another great trunk line between New York and Chicago. In the event of both Loree's projects being worked out, railroad financiers believe his final ambition will be to form the first transcontinental system by gaining trackage rights to the Pacific coast. The Wabash would serve as a connecting link between Chicago and St. Louis.

Leonor Fresnel Loree was born at Fulton City, Illinois, April 23, 1858. Entering railway service at the age of nineteen, he has given his time continuously to railroading for nearly fifty years. He has been president of the Delaware and Hudson railway for the past nineteen years and chairman of the board of directors of the Kansas City Southern since 1905.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Rev. Bernard J. Lannon, of Rensseller New York. He is a young priest that has finished school at Rome. We all stopped and took in Nice. We drove all over southern France and saw every old ruin including a great many of the younger living generation. They turn out some great boys at this big school in Rome, a broadminded, intelligent fine bunch of boys and I was certainly tickled to have them stop over with me and we had one of the most pleasant days of our entire trip.

Little Bill, Jr., wanted to carry them with us as they could tell him so many things of history and events. Of course they could tell me, too, but I didn't remember it or know anything about it in the first place. If you start dumb you are awful apt to keep it up. These boys know lots of preacher stories.

A boy knocked at the door of a preacher and was all excited when the preacher came to the door.

"My good boy, what is the matter, what can I do for you?"

"Oh, I've swallowed a quarter! I swallowed a quarter."

"But, my good lad, you should go to a doctor, not to me I am your preacher."

"But my father said come to you because you could get money out of anybody."—Copyright, 1926.

Contracts amounting to over $150,000 were secured by Marion stone men and builders for the construction of stone roads in Delaware county.

OHIO RANKS NEAR TOP IN DAIRY PRODUCTION

Produces Enough Butter Annually To Feed United States for 16 Days

Ohio is rapidly nearing the top [illegible] dairy states. From 1919 to 19[illegible] the manufacture of creamery butter increased 73 per cent and the production of market milk 60 per cent.

As a state Ohio ranks third in the production [illegible] creamery [illegible] milk and fifth in the production of creamery butter. A large part of the milk is shipped to eastern markets especially New York and Pittsburg says [illegible] B. B. [illegible] of the department of [illegible] the Ohio State University.

Ohio s [illegible] million pounds of creamery butter in 192[illegible] was enough to supply the entire United States with butter [illegible] 16 days. There was also enough [illegible] market milk in the 250 million gallons produced last year to give each resident [illegible] the state [illegible]0 quarts of milk.

Milk consumption last year according to estimates made by the United States Department of Agriculture reached the highest point in the nation s history. Over six and one third billion gallons of fluid milk and cream were consumed last year. This is an increase of a little less than 600 million gallons in one year.

Cities have shown the largest increase in the consumption of milk. In 11 Atlantic coast states and the District of Columbia estimate 1.05 pints per capita. The average Ohioan drinks about 1.1 pints of milk a day.

The increases have been attributed to the growth of cities, education in the value of milk as a food and its use as a substitute for the workman s bucket of beer with his noonday lunch.

PITTSBURGH UNIVERSITY MAY LOSE BIG BEQUEST

Pittsburgh attorneys are of the opinion that if Darlington succeeds in breaking the will on these grounds several million dollars which have been bequeathed to the University will be open to controversy.

According to Darlington s brief the petition to change the name of the University was signed by the then secretary of the board and not by an executive officer as required by law. Further that the assent of the trustees is not a matter of record and finally that the seal of the corporation is not re[illegible]

EATS HER FIRST BIG MEAL IN MONTHS; DRINKS COFFEE

No Come Back No Indigestion for Mrs Hornavious Since Taking Tepee Herb Tonic

Many a good meal was passed up by Mrs Hornavious 240 South street Galion Ohio before she took Redwood s Tepee Tonic. Mrs Hornavious had a bad case of dyspepsia and she had been forced to forego one of the greatest pleasures in life—that of being able to satisfy a craving appetite.

Just as sure as I ate anything rich like pie, pastry or cake it was sure to sour on my stomach and then I would have a bad taste for hours" says Mrs. Hornavious 'And when I had one of my spells of indigestion it was almost always followed by a splitting headache that began in my eyeballs ran over the top of my head and away down my back.

"Gas formed in my stomach and pressed up against my heart until I had to gasp for my breath. I was so nervous that I couldn t sleep soundly. Many times I have felt as though I couldn t sit still and would just have to get up and walk and walk.

'After taking six bottles of Redwood s Tepee Tonic I'm a perfectly well woman. Recently I ate my first big meal in months and enjoyed it. I drank coffee, too and that is something I wouldn t have dared to touch before Tepee Tonic relieved my ulcerated stomach.

"I ve had such a splendid experience with Tepee Tonic that I just can t help recommending it."

If you don t feel right you may confidently use Tepee Herb Tonic to help you.

Tepee Herb Tonic may be had in Marion at Bradley s Henney & Cooper s Wm Stump s Bartlett s and all drug stores, Richwood, H. D. Kyle.—Adv.

FOR Acid Stomach
PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water any time for indigestion or sour stomach and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

ECZEMA IN RASH ON LITTLE BOY

Very Itchy, Caused Eruptions. Cuticura Heals.

"My little brother had weeping eczema. It broke out on his forehead in a rash and was very itchy causing him to scratch. Scratching caused the eruptions to fester and they were very sore and tender. "Cuticura Soap and Ointment were suggested so we purchased some and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and nearly a box of Cuticura Ointment he was healed." (Signed) Miss Minnie Saxsma, Piper City, Ill., Feb. 2, 1926.

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America. This is possible thru the magic of the humble tin can.

In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition.

She tried various medicines. At last a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial.

"Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is [illegible] North Front St., Salem, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

Tex May Stage Heavyweight Go in New York

AFTER all the wrangling it now seems certain that Tex Rickard will be able to stage his pet bout, the Dempsey-Tunney go this year.

• Judging from reports this morning Phil [illegible], who figured in filling his pockets at the expense of Rickard by flashing a contract which Dempsey is said to have signed passed out of the picture when Tex received a special invitation from members of the New York Boxing Commission to bring the bout back to New York.

IT'S NOT often home runs win a league pennant in spite of the activities of Babe Ruth. The Babe of course is an institution in himself. As he goes the New York team goes. When he's out hitting home runs the team generally wins even though his particular homers may not have had any direct bearing on the result.

The power of Ruth's bat spreads itself to the whole team and that's largely why they're [illegible] games ahead of the Indians [illegible] more smoothly working outfit right now.

But as a rule it takes more than mere involuntary fence wrecking to cop the season's berries.

THAT being [illegible] it will [illegible] interesting to observe the [illegible] of any of the St. Louis Cardinals before the [illegible] out. The Cards are threatening to take the flag almost entirely on the strength of their home run [illegible].

The Cards are [illegible] for the [illegible] of the best of the league in home runs it takes two readers to find [illegible]. They've [illegible] [illegible] 9, the latest figures tell us. The next closest are the Phillies with [illegible].

The record of home runs for the National league reads almost like the lineup of the Cardinals. Jim Bottomley of St. Louis is tied with Wilson of Chicago for the top with 14. [illegible] of St. Louis is tied with Southworth of St. Louis for third with 11 each. [illegible] of the Redbirds is fourth with 10. Then comes Rogers Hornsby, St. Louis manager, with nine.

THOSE five sluggers between them have gathered in 55 home runs, almost the team total.

Still the team as a whole ranks low in batting, standing sixth. They're fourth in fielding. Flint Rhem is the league's leading pitcher but outside of Haines, who has often pitched in fewer games, Flint has only [illegible] anywhere near.

YOU must have a great [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] home run [illegible] [illegible] general pickup.

It [illegible] is now [illegible] batting [illegible] and [illegible] climbing. [illegible] first [illegible] this year [illegible] has [illegible] [illegible] the Cards finishing there with him.

[illegible] to the Cards is somewhat [illegible] the Yanks. When [illegible] hits the [illegible] good ball.

IT was quite a game Springfield and [illegible] played in the Three Eye league the other day when Springfield won 33 to 23.

But it can't hold a candle to a game that has just been reported from Eagle Pass, Tex.

The game started at 9 a. m. and was called in the sixth inning at 7 p. m. because of darkness. The San Luisto team of Eagle Pass won from the [illegible] team from across the border 129 to 119.

The two dozen errors of Shortstop Morel's in the third inning was one of the features, the report said, but his fielding in the other innings was all but faultless, as he had only six or seven more errors."

It continued: "[illegible] at the height of their [illegible] Caballero [illegible] [illegible] only 75 hits and gave up only [illegible] bases on balls. [illegible] the [illegible] threw a [illegible] game, permitting seven hits more than his rival [illegible] 17 passes. [illegible] had 16 wild pitches and [illegible] 21."

cancelled all Chicago engagements and packed his bags indicated he intended to shake the dust of Chicago from his feet for some time to come.

The New York promoter although aroused from his bed at the Congress hotel here to be questioned regarding his plans was jubilant and smiled for the first time in several days.

He said he did not think there would be any legal obstacle to the Tunney bout if approved by the New York Commission. He declared approval of the commission would pave the way for clearing up of the jumbled state of affairs caused by several Dempsey contracts.

Rickard said he did not care to discuss the threat of B. C. Clements, Chicago promoter, to the effect that if Dempsey tried to fight anyone except Harry Wills he would go into court to enjoin the champion. He added he believed Dempsey could fight Tunney in New York under an agreement held by Rickard and despite a contract claimed to be held by Clements calling for the heavyweight king's services in a bout in Chicago against the negro challenger.

Despite Rickard's corraling of an additional supporter in the commission proper those wise in the technical ways of the boxing body saw certain obstacles in the path of Rickard.

John J. Phelan as chairman of the license committee holds the official control over all proposed bouts, it was pointed out. The commission recommend licensing a match. Colonel Phelan may accept or reject the recommendation. Phelan is rated as a hard and fast Farley adherent, so the granting of a license for Dempsey-Tunney bout over the wishes of Farley would reflect even a greater about face than Brower's desertion of Farley, the wiseacres say.

And then there is another technical matter that must be straightened out before Tunney faces Dempsey across the ring. Tunney at the present time is not a licensed fighter in New York state having allowed his certificate to lapse.

FARLEY SAYS TEX WON'T STAGE GO

New York, July 27— I still stand pat on my attitude against a Dempsey-Tunney bout, said James A. Farley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission when told today of Tex Rickard's announcement that he would bring the bout back to New York and appear immediately before the Boxing Commission in response to Commissioner George Brower's wired invitation.

Rickard couldn't put it over in Chicago and he won't be able to in New York, either, declared Farley.

The commission chairman admitted Brower's telegram to Rickard was a surprise to him.

What a "drag" will do

A DRAG on your jimmy-pipe, loaded to the guards with Prince Albert, will give you an entirely new idea of how good a pipe can taste when you put it on the proper diet. It will revise all your notions about the grand old pastime of pipe-smoking. Make the test!

This very day, get yourself a tidy red tin of P. A. and tuck a load into the business end of your pipe. Light up and pull that wonderful smoke up the stem. Notice how cool it tastes, whether you feed it fast or slow. Notice how sweet and mellow it is. Good old P. A.!

When you open the tin, the aroma that greets you is richly fragrant . . . the breath of real, honest-to-goodness tobacco. An aromatic promise of the smoke-pleasure to come. You'll never forget that taste when you light up. Nothing else is like it anywhere.

No matter how satisfied you think you are, give P. A. a whirl in your jimmy-pipe. Millions of smoke-happy men will tell you that P. A. will give you more pleasure to the cubic inch than any tobacco you ever smoked. There's a P. A. sunshine-shop just across the way!

So then I came the cow's rope and tied rocks to it and walked in

Then and stuck the pipe down with the end sticking out and then I left my clothes and watched out for them It was near milking they came and I was almost et by mosquitoes. When I saw them coming I run back and clum a tree and hid in the branches.

When they got to the pond and saw the pipe they all began to laugh, and the Lost Bag of Tripe said he would swim out and jerk the pipe away from me and make me come up. So he got nekked and did, and they all hollered when he pulled the pipe, and then when I didn't come up they all got scairt, and Hopper, which is our crip and a good little old kid began to beller. Then they all at once skun out as fast as they could go.

When I saw them coming I run back and clum a tree

I put on my clothes and driv the cows home, and they were all in my yard telling me mother when I got there, and when she saw me with the cows she thought the Lost Bag of Tripe was lying to her and she fetched him a wallop that almost made him turn a cartwheel. I am going out tomorrow and dive for the cow's rope.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

a cherry tree, not far from Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, Mr. Cheer Up. Lest you at his strange name, I shall tell that Mr. Cheer Up was a with a red feather vest. Some called him Mr. Robin, but he to be called Mr. Cheer Up.

that was what he sang each evening he sat near his nest in the tree—a nest in which Mrs. was hatching out her second family little robins. Mr. Cheer Up perch on the topmost limb and and sing with his head cocked side.

eer up! Cheer up! Cheer up!" he sing. "What if it rained today? if your heart's filled with sorrow Tomorrow is another day! The will shine tomorrow!"

sang Mr. Cheer Up, and Uncle was very fond of listening to For, though the rabbit gentleman could twinkle his pink nose, he not sing a note. He could hum songs: one was "Yankee Doodle" the other wasn't, but Uncle Wiggily could never tell which was which seldom ever hummed.

I love to hear you sing, Mr. Up," said the bunny. "Sing another verse of your song, please."

am a bit too bothered to sing sweetly just now," whistled the hopping down to sit on Uncle Wiggily's porch.

What are you bothered about?" the rabbit gentleman.

About a big worm over in your ," went on the robin. "For two I have tried to pull that worm of his hole, but I can't."

Why not?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

Well, either because he is too big a worm for me to pull, or he is too deep down in the ," said Mr. Cheer Up. "Two or times I have had hold of him pulled that partly out of the but he holds fast, and I can't him up. I wish you would come help me pull that worm."

I should like to help you, for you given me pleasure by singing to " said the rabbit. "But how about worm—does he want to be pulled and eaten—I suppose you intend him?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Oh, yes," sang the robin. "Worms for birds to eat. In fact, worm ought to be very glad to at our family dinner. It must be he is just teasing me, not letting pull him out of the ground. Come help me, that's a good bunny!"

All right. I will!" said Uncle Wiggily. "As you say worms are made birds to eat, so the birds will grow and sing songs. In this way, making meal for the birds, worms really

You might call it that," chirped Cheer Up, and he flew over to the where he pointed the tip of wing toward a little hole in the is where the worm lives," said "Stick your head up and let you!" chirped the bird. "Uncle is here to help me now."

the rabbit gentleman saw something dark red and round, sticking of the hole in the ground. He hold of it in his paws, crying: on out! Come up! Mr. Cheer Up wants you, my friend!" The rabbit pulled hard, and, all of a sudden he fell over backward, for the round, red thing he was pulling on popped out of the ground quickly.

"There's a worm for you, Mr. Cheer Up!" cried the bunny as he got on his feet.

"Alas no! Ha! Ha! It isn't a worm at all!" sang the bird.

"Not a worm. What is it, then?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"A piece of round, red rubber," chirped the birds. "Some boy must have buried it in the ground, with the end sticking out, so it looked just like a worm. I thought it was pretty tough!"

"Sing another verse, please."

"It's too bad, to disappoint you," said Uncle Wiggily. "All the while you thought this was a worm, and it wasn't."

"Oh, I am used to disappointments," sang the robin.

"Come over to the bungalow and I'll give you some rice pudding that Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy just made," invited the bunny. "And I'll take this round piece of rubber and make a spring for the screen door."

So something good came of it after all, you see. And if the lady bug doesn't go to sleep in the match box and burn her wings, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's lemonade straws.

Cowardice is a nightmare that troubles some men when they are awake.

MOTOR STOCKS ADVANCE TO HIGHER PRICES TODAY

Professional Buying Stimulates Action Among Bonds on New York Exchange

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks steady; industrial stocks firm; call money 4 per cent; grain unsteady; copper steady; oils steady; cotton [illegible]; rubber steady; sugar steady; foreign exchange firm.

New York, July 27 — Motors and high-priced specialties advanced to higher price levels today under the stimulus of professional buying, which ignored completely the normally [illegible] industrial and railroad stocks.

General Motors was again the leader of the procession and while several new price records were scored in [illegible] other stocks, gains were moderate as compared with some of the recent spectacular sessions.

From a business and financial standpoint, the important events of the day centered around the publication of the June earnings reports of the railroad companies operating in eastern and western territories. Gains of from 10 to 22 per cent over the same month last year were reported by a number of the prominent roads, including Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Railway, Norfolk & Western, Rock Island, International Great Northern, etc.

Not less conspicuous were the gains reported by such prominent industrial concerns as American Locomotive, International Business Machines, Timken, Allis Chalmers and others for the month and for the first half of 1926. These reports stimulated buying of the stocks of the respective companies.

Today In Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

From gardeners and truck farmers surrounding Marion have come reports of the first appearance of home-grown tomatoes and a good variety of home-grown sweet corn.

The latter vegetable has already been placed on the market to greet the many roasting ear buyers. The tomatoes are expected to be placed on the local vegetable counters in a few days.

Today the home-grown roasting ear sold at 50 cents a dozen. The price is high but no higher than the quotation made on sweet corn at its first appearance in other seasons. As the supply increases the high quotation will gradually be reduced, it is said.

The entrance of the home-grown tomato will go far in saving the local tomato market and lowering the present quotation local dealers say. Hot house and imported garden tomatoes are scarce in the local vegetable houses. Prices were steady at 15 cents a pound for the garden and 30 cents for the hot house, today.

Raspberries were boosted in some of the local fruit markets. The red variety sold at 40 cents, an increase of five cents on the quart over the price yesterday. The black variety seemed more plentiful in most markets and sold at 28 and 30 cents. Their price was 25 and 28 cents yesterday.

A new variety of grapes, the Texas Concord, were announced in the markets today. They were retailed at 65 cents for a five pound basket.

Currants were available at 18 cents again today after rising to 20 cents a quart, yesterday.

Sweet potatoes were lowered to 10 cents a pound. Yesterday the potatoes sold at two pounds for 25 cents.
